Editorial Correspondence.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 4th, 1880.
Leaving Mt. Sterling just on the eve of Anderson's sale of short-horns, I proceeded to WINCHESTER, where I found everybody and their kin-folks recovering from the effects of the dissipation of the night previous, politely called the short-horn banquet. Headache and drowsiness was the universal complaint—the general verdict being that champagne had been too plentiful at the banquet, and too freely indulged in.

I am of the opinion that, under ordinary circumstances, Winchester is a bright, live looking place, but I happened to strike the town at a time when its 2,500 inhabitants were not feeling particularly well, and I spent a correspondingly dull afternoon here. To make matters worse, Tom Stuart, of the Clark County Democrat, the only man with whom I had any acquaintance, was out of town, and I felt, indeed, as a stranger in a strange place.

Winchester is improving. Some very fine business houses are being erected here, of which the new Clark County National Bank building deserves particular mention. It is three stories high, and has a beautiful front—the first story being of cast iron, and the balance of the front of the building being of galvanized iron—the work of our enterprising fellow-townsmen, Ed. Power. The best hotel in the famous Blue-Grass Region—the Rees House—is located here, and is a credit to the town.

I left Winchester at noon, and stopped in Lexington long enough to have a pleasant chat with Dr. Yantis, member of the Legislature from Fleming county, and then taking the three o'clock, p. m., freight train on the C. S. R. R., I hurried on to

NICHOLASVILLE, the county seat of Jessamine county, situated just twelve miles south of Lexington. Nicholasville has a population of 2,100, and is considerably scattered around. It has a nice new court-house, just completed at a cost of $42,000—a finer looking building than the $110,000 court-house in Paris—and a very comfortable little hotel. The town don't seem to be overrun with business, nor do the inhabitants seem to be in any special hurry to get through life. I spent but a few hours in Nicholasville, and then hurried over to

HARRODSBURG, where I found everybody making preparations for the grand Democratic ratification which was to take place the following day. After a good night's rest at the National Hotel—which, by the way, is first-class in every particular—took an early start to see the town. There are some splendid places here—nothing magnificent, but grand old places that have unmistakable signs of comfort and ease. The business houses are not gorgeous, but are quite substantial looking, and what is better, seem to be doing a thriving trade. Everybody seems cheerful and full of business, and it makes one feel good to mix with the people for a few hours. Good church edifices and first-class schools are to be found here; everything seems to be pushed along in a business-like way; few loafers are to be seen on the streets, and everybody appears to be in a hurry—all of which speaks well for Harrodsburg's 2,100 inhabitants.

DANVILLE was my next stopping place. It is quite a nice town, but I confess I was somewhat disappointed in the place. It is a pretty town, but I expected to see a prettier. The Deaf and Dumb Institute and some very fine schools are located here. Two of the best papers in the State, and two or three good hotels are also located here. The streets are wide and in good order, the houses look well, business seems to be fair, and, taken altogether, the town is above the average.

I left the place early Saturday morning and got home for breakfast. After spending a couple of days in the Capital City I came to Louisville, at which place I am still sojourning. I suppose I could say nothing of the Falls City that would be new to the readers of the ROUNDABOUT, so I will close this letter. C. B.

Some of our manufacturers send their machinery to Louisville to have it repaired, when they can get the work done at the Capital City Machine Works for about what the freight to Louisville and return costs them.

An enterprising colored man in this city hit upon the idea of making all the guests at a wedding at his house last week pay for their supper, and when supper was announced collected twenty-five cents from all but the bride and groom, and realized quite a neat sum.

The Franklin Presbyterian congregation will worship to-morrow (Aug. 15th) in the school-house of the Frankfort High School, services beginning at eleven o'clock. A cordial invitation to the meeting is hereby extended to the public.

Very respectfully,
A. M. FRANKER,
Stated supply of Frankfort Church.

To the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund:

GENTLEMEN:—We take this method of calling your attention to the filthy condition of the lot belonging to the State, east of the prison, which is being used as a hog pen. From five to seven barrels of slop is emptied there daily, besides the garbage which accumulates in the prison yard. There is a mud hole twenty feet square, caused by slop-water from the female department, in which from seventy-five to one hundred hogs wallow daily. The lot being State property it is only through you that we can look for or expect relief. It is not only offensive, but it is endangering the lives of five or six families who are not only tax-payers but Good Citizens.

By the use of Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites the blood is speedily vitalized and purified, and so made capable of producing a sound mind and a sound body.

Dr. T. T. BRADFORD'S Cure for Rheumatism, Gout, and Neuralgia. This is not a nostrum, but a preparation compounded by an experienced physician with a view to the cure of the above complaints. To any who are suffering we offer this remedy as a sure cure, and can furnish the most reliable testimonials from persons who have used it and been relieved. Price fifty cents per bottle. Further information given by the sole proprietor, Dr. T. T. Bradford, Augusta, Ky. For sale by W. H. Averill, Frankfort, Ky. John D. Park & Sons, wholesale agents, Cincinnati, O. feb21-6m.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second class mailable matter.

CLAUDE BUCKLEY.

GEO. A. LEWIS.

BUCKLEY & LEWIS.

Editors and Publishers.

FRANKFORT, AUGUST 14, 1880.

TERMS.

The WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT is published every Saturday, at one dollar per annum, invariably in advance.

Six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents. Money may be sent by post-office money order, or registered letter at our risk.

Notices of Marriages, Births, and Deaths inserted free of charge. Obituary notices will be charged for at our regular advertising rates.

The streets need cleaning.

Mrs. Ward has received an elegant line of fall hats and bonnets. The ladies should call and see them.

Col. D. Howard Smith will offer his residence at public sale, on Monday, September 6th, at the court-house door.

The colored people of this and adjoining counties will give an agricultural fair at this place the week following the fair of the Kentucky Industrial Association.

In passing over the bridge to South Frankfort, if you will step into Joe LeCompte's you can get one of the best five cent cigars to be had in this city, for he keeps only the best.

A special premium of ten dollars for the best display of cut flowers, to be exhibited in the floral hall at the Fair Ground during our coming fair, has been offered by Mr. Ed. Power, and Messrs. Marshall & Meagher will give a fine pair of ladies' shoes, worth $6 50, to the owner of the finest trio of chickens of any breed exhibited at the same time.

Some fine peaches have been shipped to this market and sold by the box. Lately, however, some of our citizens have been swindled in their purchases. The packer of the boxes they bought had placed a layer of nice, good-sized free stone peaches in the bottom and top of the box, but the center was filled up with very small cling stones, many of them being but very little larger than marbles.

The examining trial of Theodore and Robert Davis for being concerned in the murder of Clint. Montague, was begun Friday afternoon of last week, before Esquires McDonald and Tinsley, and continued from day to day until Tuesday morning, when the parties were held over to the Circuit Court. Theodore Davis' bail was fixed at $3,000 and Robert's at $1,000, which they both gave and were released from jail.

Early in the summer hardly a week passed but some of the employes at some one of the saw-mills below the city had their hands and arms cut or their fingers sawed off. Then the mills above the city furnished several accidents of similar nature, and this week the lower mills come to the front again in the same line. If this thing is kept up until winter comes there will not be fingers enough left among the old hands to point out the dangers to the green ones that are employed.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. Jos. LeCompte, who keeps a first-class drug store on the South Side, is the agent for the sale of Seeley's Hard Rubber Trusses, the best that are made, and if you need such an article call and see him. Joe always keeps the best goods in his line, and will treat you right, for he's a first-class fellow.

But few, comparatively, went from this city to Niagara over the Short Line Tuesday, and it was due to mismanagement on the part of some one connected with the railroad. No sleeping car berths could be secured here, and a number who had made all their arrangements to go staid at home on that account, and all those who went took the chances of having to sit up all night while on the road. It was a great disappointment to many of our citizens, some of whom will take the trip next week over the Kentucky Central.

Mr. Wm. Scofield, the boss fruit-raiser of this county, presented the ROUNDABOUT office, Wednesday, with a half peck of the finest peaches we have ever seen. Seventeen of them filled the measure heaping full, and two of them were as much as any one could eat at one sitting. They were delicious, and were enjoyed by our whole force, who unanimously voted Mr. Scofield a trump. He has always brought the best fruit to this market, and in this instance has excelled himself. His wagon is always filled with the choicest varieties of fruit grown by himself, and if you want the best he can always supply you. The fruit he brought to this office would have taken the blue ribbon at any fair.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, AUGUST 14, 1880.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN CITY AND COUNTY.

TO TRAVELERS.

On and after April 28th, 1879, trains on the L. C. & L. R. R. will leave Frankfort daily (Sundays excepted) as follows:

TRAINS WEST.

No. 4. Leave Frankfort.....8:15 a. m.
No. 12. Leave Frankfort.....2:50 p. m.

TRAINS EAST.

No. 9. Leave Frankfort.....9:04 a. m.
No. 11. Leave Frankfort.....5:40 p. m.
The 2:50 P. M. train will make close connection, as formerly, for Cincinnati.

E. P. BRYAN, Agent.

The cornshuck prophets are predicting a cold winter.

An engine for the Mt. Sterling Coal Road is being repaired at the Capital Machine Works in this city.

Sidney French, Esq., will deliver a temperance lecture at the Christian Church in Bridgeport to-night.

The painting of the interior of the Christian Church has been completed, and it looks as neat as a new pin.

John Foster, one of the employes at W. L. Pence's mill, in Belle Point while at work at the edge table, Wednesday morning, had all four fingers of the right hand sawed off.

A contract for driving the piles for the foundation of the north pier of the Benson bridge has been made with a Louisville party, and it is expected that work will begin next week.

The interior of the Catholic Church is being greatly improved. The walls and ceiling have been beautifully painted, and a new altar and windows are to be put in, the whole to cost over $2,000.

Col. J. W. Hunt Reynolds sold to Mr. Richard T. Chiles a lot immediately in front of Williams' stable, South Frankfort, for $2,000, Tuesday. The lot fronts 634 feet on Third street, running back 190.

All those who are indebted to the firm of J. H. Bowen & Co. had better call around and settle up if they don't want an officer calling to see them. Mase Williams says he needs the money, and he's not joking about it, either.

The lot in the rear of the prison is in a filthy condition, and the attention of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund is called to it by citizens living in that neighborhood. Their communication will be found in another column.

Not satisfied with the race of last Saturday afternoon, Messrs. W. L. Collins and John Ayres have again matched their horses for a trot this afternoon, at the Fair Ground, for $50 a side. The race will be best three in five, and will commence about four o'clock.

The old building at the corner of Main and Ann streets will be almost new when finished. The entire front and east walls, with the foundation, will be taken away and rebuilt, and the old wall that will be left will be so repaired as to look as good as new.

The ROUNDABOUT has double the circulation in Frankfort of any other paper, "and don't you forget it, as Sid French would say." This is an indisputable fact. No gas here.

For the cheapest Books in America call at Marshall & Meagher's. They have been appointed agents for the New York Book Exchange. They will sell you books at New York prices. Call and get a catalogue from them.

Persons who use hydrant water for running machinery are complaining that they are not notified before the water is shut off, and that their boilers are damaged thereby. Last week the boiler at the Capital City Machine Works came near being burnt several times. The water was running when work was begun in the morning, and the hands being very busy, none of them noticed that it had been shut off until the boiler was nearly empty. A signal of some kind should be arranged to let it be known when the flow of water is to be stopped.

The Princely Managers and their Great Railroad Menagerie and Circus.

On Wednesday, Sept. 1st, Sells Brothers' Millionaire Confederation of Stupendous Railroad Shows will exhibit, in all its vast entirety, at Frankfort, and, we have ample warrant for stating, that the occasion will be the most remarkable, wonderful and enjoyable in the amusement history of this section. The electric light; the largest herd of elephants; the only pair of living hippopotami; the only drove of performing Colorado cattle; the only huge living two-horned rhinoceros, and the only Arctic aquarium of twenty monster sea lions, Polar elephants, amphibious leopards and Siberian seals, are distinctive features of rare interest, while the general collection of wild beasts and birds is immense and unequaledly comprehensive. The circus programme presents the names of a host of eminent principal performers, with none but bareback riders in the ring, led by the great and only James Robinson, whose unchallenged superiority over all rivals is so universally conceded as to preclude further comment. An arctic feature of most thrilling novelty is the introduction of Ute Chiefs and Braves, who appear in an equestrian drama, illustrating the savage scenes and single combats of border warfare.

The great show is run on high points all round. It is managed in person by its popular and estimable owners, rents no privileges of any kind to any one, earnestly bespeaks the assistance of the municipal authorities to stamp out blacklegs, adventurers and all such disreputable characters as great crowds attract. Furthermore, no peddling is permitted under its tents, and visitors are not importuned or annoyed in any way.

SUPPLEMENT.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Messrs. B. S. Dustin and S. K. Fleming, formerly of Louisville, have opened a boiler factory in this city. They will for the present have their place of business at the Capital City Machine works, where they can be found. We hope their enterprise will prove successful.

The back wall of the L of the old jail building, on Clinton street, fell out Wednesday. Fortunately no one was living in that portion of the house, and no damage was done. This old building was occupied by the jailer while Beauchampe, who killed Col. S. P. Sharp, was confined in the jail which stood in the yard.

A little fellow, who was the possessor of a counterfeit half dollar, amused himself and a number of others, Thursday afternoon, by tying a thread to the half dollar, placing it on the crossing at the Telephone office corner, and by means of the thread, jerking it away when some unsuspecting person attempted to pick it up. He caught a number of suckers.

The match race came off at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon and was closely contested, five heats being necessary to decide it. The time was remarkably good for green horses. The following is the

About 10 o'clock Wednesday night, a man attempted to enter the residence of Mr. Sidney French, in South Frankfort, but was discovered by Mr. Wm. French, jr., who sent a load of shot after him as he disappeared in the darkness. There seems to be a strange desire upon the part of some one to break into this house, as several attempts were made to do so while it was occupied by Mrs. Sallie Crockett.

The special train, upon which the excursionists for Chicago will go, leaves this city to-morrow afternoon at ten minutes after three o'clock and all who are going should be at the depot in time. Arriving at Louisville, the party will take supper at the Galt House, which will cost but fifty cents, and then leave for Chicago at 7 p. m., where they will arrive in time for breakfast. The train will run into the depot formerly known as the Panhandle, at the corner of Carroll and Clinton streets, whence the party will go to the camp, where everything but towels will be furnished, each person being expected to furnish his own towels.

Messrs. Landon and Weston Thomas left this city several weeks ago upon their bicycles, with the intention of going to Cincinnati, but upon arriving at Georgetown they were informed that the Cincinnati pike was too rough for them to travel, and took the train over the Cincinnati Southern for Greenwood Lake, where they remained until the latter part of last week, when they returned to Georgetown, and from thence they went to Paris on their bicycles, making the distance—17 miles—in two hours. Monday morning they left Paris for home, coming by way of Lexington and Versailles—45 miles—and arrived here in the afternoon, after having been on the road five hours, exclusive of an hour or two that they rested at Lexington and Versailles.

"MURDER WILL OUT."

Hall Gives Himself Up, and Clears Away the Mystery That has Enveloped the Crow Tragedy.

"Dode Davis Did the Shooting."

Wm. Hall, one of the parties concerned in the murder of Clint. Montague, who has been hiding out since the night of the murder, went to the house of Constable Hampton, near Peak's Mill, Thursday night, awakened that officer, and surrendered himself to him. He was brought to town yesterday morning, and his examining trial set for two o'clock, but objections being made to one of the magistrates, the trial was continued until this morning.

He says that on the night of the 2d inst. he and his cousin, George Hall, went to the house of ill-fame kept by Frank Davis at about 11 o'clock, and after talking a few moments with some of the inmates in the hall, they started to their hotel, and when at Rodgers' corner met Robert Davis and another man. After introducing all around, Robert Davis proposed to go across the street and listen to a harp which was being played by a colored boy. They went over, and the man who was with Davis left. They staid a little while, and Davis proposed to go down the street. They started in the direction of Frank Davis' under the lead of Robert Davis, but finding where they were going, they (the Halls) refused to accompany Davis. Robert Davis then said come on down to the corner, anyhow. On their way a small stone came from across the street and fell at their feet. Davis called out: "Stop throwing your stones or somebody will get one mashed over his head." Following this remark came a shot from the same direction. Soon afterwards Clint. Montague came across the street and engaged in a quarrel of several minutes duration with Davis. Davis talked very loud, and finally took hold of Montague when Dode Davis came running down the street, and placed a pistol to the head of Montague and fired. He immediately turned and went rapidly back, and entered his house. Robert Davis came by him (Hall) and said, "Is that you, Hall?" and taking him by the arm, they proceeded to Dode's grocery. On the way Robert said "there was nobody hurt, Dode didn't kill him, did he?" He (Hall) replied "No." Robert then said "Will you swear to it?" to which he (Hall) replied "Yes." Davis then said remain here, and I will go and get Dode, and we will fix it up. He then left and as soon as he was out of sight, Hall started home. This took place in a vacant lot close to the grocery of Dode Davis.

Alton.

Get ready for the fair next week. Miss Carrie Parker, of Clay Village, has been visiting Miss Mittie White.

Mr. Will. White, of Tyrone, was here last Sunday visiting friends.

Miss Hattie Buckley, of Frankfort, will be the guest of Miss Minnie Roberts next week.

Miss Lillie Taylor, of Fisherville, is spending the summer with relatives and friends here.

There is a young man near here who says he will never again sit on a rock to rest after climbing a steep hill on a hot day.

Mr. Horace Ragan and family, who have been living in Shelbyville for some time past, have returned to their old home here, where they will reside in future.

A party of young ladies and gentlemen, of this place and vicinity, went to High Bridge recently and spent quite a pleasant time for a day or two viewing that wonderful structure and rambling over the hills. While engaged in the latter something inexpressibly funny happened to one of the number, for the particulars of which ask Pres. CAP.

Bridgeport.

The recent rains will make the early corn.

Miss Cordie Jackson is visiting in Louisville.

Miss Helen Long is visiting relatives in Lexington.

Mrs. John Shouse, who has been very ill, is convalescent.

Mr. Wm. Russell is making handsome improvements on his house.

Miss Mamie Pollard has returned from her visit to New Albany, Ind.

Miss Mattie Long, who has been visiting her uncle in Lexington, has returned home.

Miss Carrie Parker, of Shelby county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. James Russell.

Miss Peggy Crockett, of Frankfort, has been visiting Miss Jacque Jackson this week.

Mr. John Horine, of Fayette county, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Dr. Stout, this week.

J. W. Jackson, Esq., and daughter, Miss Janie, are visiting Mrs. Lear, of Iuka. Ill., who is very ill.

There will be a public temperance meeting at the Christian Church to-night. Rev. Ben Deering, Mr. Sidney French, of Frankfort, and others will address the meeting. Everybody is cordially invited. Bro.

White's School-House.

Miss Ida Crockett, of Frankfort, is visiting Miss Carrie Montague this week.

Miss Mattie Crutcher returned last week from a visit to friends in Jefferson county.

The rains of the past few days saved the corn crop. The farmers were getting uneasy.

Mr. Robert Hanly, who has been going to school near Philadelphia, is spending vacation with friends in this vicinity.

Miss Ella Stephens, of Frankfort, and Miss Eva White, of Alton, were visiting Miss Lallie Stephens the first of the week.

Hemp cutting has commenced. The crop is very fine, but the laborers are few. Three dollars per day is being paid for cutting.

Wheat is about all threshed out. The yield was not so good as most farmers anticipated, ranging from four to twenty-five bushels per acre.

There are more pretty girls in this neighborhood than you can count, but the boys—well come out here and see for yourself. We won't fight, and can't run fast, so won't pass our opinion.

Miss Carrie Lester, of Ghent, opened school at White's School-house Monday. Miss Lester comes highly recommended by the officers of the Midway Orphan School, of which she is a graduate. REPORTER.
